COLLEGE STUDENTS QUALIFY FOR MANY JOBS

Good news is in store for those students who are forced to quit school, those who will terminate their education by failing to pass the Associate Degree, and those who are avoiding summer employment. Companies throughout the country are searching for ambitious young people with various amounts of education.

United States Steel has positions available to those holding an AA degree in almost any technical field, with salaries ranging from $400 to $525 per month, along with the enjoyment of liberal company benefits. Selection is necessary for these positions.

The United States Civil Service Commission has announced the formation of the Junior Federal Assistant Examination. This Federal Program is designed to attract Junior College students into government service jobs ranging from technical fields to personal administration. These jobs are available at government agencies throughout the United States. Application deadline is Feb. 28, 1967.

Illinois Bell Telephone Company is looking for women with some college education to fill openings in the central office, commercial, and traffic departments. One need not be a graduate. The Kiskokoo Council of Girls Scouts needs leaders for a job working with young girls and who like the outdoors to serve as counselors for the summer. A representative will be here April 11 to interview students who are interested in insurance investigation and who will graduate this spring. Applicants must be 21 or over, have typing ability, and have access to a car.

Immediate openings are available for graduates and non-graduates in the marketing department of the Taxable Publishing Company of Morton, Illinois. Salaries range from $5000 to $7500, depending upon the applicant's education and experience. Part-time jobs are also available.

For more information on these and other jobs, see Mr. Dan Johnson in Dahn Hall.

MORTVEDT TO TOUR EUROPEAN CITIES

Donald Mortvedt, dean of students, will be on leave of absence in March from his Canton College duties while he confers with educators in Europe and on the European continent.

The dean will board a Scandinavian Airlines plane March 2 which will take him to London and his first three-day stop at Oxford. With about 100 U.S. educators on the three-week field study, Dean Mortvedt will travel to Marseilles and Aix-en-Provence, Florence, Moscow, and East Berlin before returning to New York, March 21.

Meeting with administrators, teachers and students at each three or four-day stop, the group will study the contrasts in European secondary and higher education.

Dean Mortvedt, undertaking the venture at his own expense, expects to concentrate on student personnel services. He was granted the time off from his duties here in exchange for extra work performed at the college during the summer.

Some of the scenes on the continent will bring back memories to Dean Mortvedt who was stationed with an Army Intelligence Division attached to the U.S. Air Force at Wiesbaden Air Base in 1955. During his military service, the dean traveled extensively but he has never been to Moscow. Next month. This part of the trip will be on the European continent. He has granted the time off from his duties here in exchange for extra work performed at the college during the summer.

HAPPINESS IS.
BY CAROL POMFREY

I have read several "Happiness Is..." columns which have made me think about what happiness is for the college student. After quite a bit of thought, I feel that I have come up with the following list...

- Happiness is...
- having your first hour class cancelled the day before.
- knowing your final will not cover the entire semester.
- having to smoke your first cigarette.
- getting an A on a test you did not study for.
- going to the game with your favorite boy or girlfriend.
- knowing you are passing your last course.
- being able to answer a question when asked by your professor.
- sitting in Dahn Dungo taking telephone calls.
- getting out of night class early.
- being able to finish your homework before midnight.
- not receiving any failure notices after midterm.
- being out of class in the winter.
- having a three hour biology lab.
- knowing you can make the right decision by yourself.
- saving your name in print in the college paper.

Mr. Harrison Eller
Canton Community College
Canton, Ill.

Dear Mr. Eller:

I would like to take this opport unity to express my appreciation to you and your young Republican Club of Canton Community College for the great support you showed me in my candidacy for Sheriff of Fulton County.

I was indeed gratified to read of your support in the local paper.

I hope my support over the writers of this county, and I have been gratified to see that this may not have been really much of a whole-hearted support of your club.

I again thank the club for the campaign and the door knocking that they did for me. As Sheriff of Fulton County I cannot ever be of assistance to any of you, you will find this office willing to cooperate.

Sincerely,

Neil R. Butler
Sheriff Fulton County

I LOVE HIM.
BY GLADYS DAVIS

I love him, and he loves me. We need each other for personal strength. He always wants me by his side in the town of Illinois.

When I sleep with him, he keeps me warm and secure. I am his comforter.

He is sad today, and we are happy together. He tells me all he knows. I do not mean any.

I am not like most friends; I am not going to be a showdown. I do not intend to.

We are together, and I trust him, and he has a lot of confidence in me. We know the true meaning of devotion.

There are few occasions when we must part. These times occur on Monday, I am Linus's blunder, and Monday is wash day.

January 16, 1967

To Whom It May Concern:

I have been in a unique position to observe the activities and accomplishments of a relatively new Young Republican Club at Canton College in Canton, Ill. It is difficult for me to express the great regard that I have for the efforts put forth by this club on behalf of Republican candidates in Illinois.

In my own case, Canton College Young Republicans campaigned with me at factory gates at the International Harvester Co. in Canton at six o'clock in the morning. They arranged a fund-raising dinner which proved to be most successful. They worked extremely well with the regular Republican Party organization. They were available on call when needed to perform some of the laborious and time-consuming jobs important in winning an election. In other words, they were outstanding.

This is a relatively new club, but the members have already demonstrated their ability to get things done. Quite often groups such as this are inclined to talk a good game, but do nothing really practical. Just to prove this is true, Canton College has been true in the case of the Canton College Young Republicans, and I credit them with being an important factor in my election to the U.S. Congress.

Sincerely,

Tom Rolfsback
Member of Congress 19th Illinois District

DIAMONDS, GAL’S BEST FRIEND
By Barbara Acher

Have you ever worn a $40 diamond ring? I had the privilege of trying one on while I interviewed Jerry Dawson of Reichert's Jewelry Store.

The diamond industry is most fascinating. It is really hard to find a stone that will be suitable for a ring because 80 per cent of all diamonds that are found are not of good quality. Diamonds are formed under immense heat, 6,000 to 7,000 feet below the surface of the earth. Approximately 98 per cent of the diamonds are found in Africa; in the diamond factories men go through 22 tons of rock and travel to find enough diamonds to weigh two carats.

Since the diamond is the hardest substance known to man, it takes eight hours to cut through even a small stone. After the diamond is cut, a man polishes all facets into it.

At Reichert's most of the diamonds that are sold are unmounted, that is, you pick a stone the size and price you want to pay and then pick a mounting that will go nicely with the stone. Whereas most women want perfect stones, men prefer the small ones that are not as perfect.

The diamonds received by Reichert's are sent by registered mail from the Blue Bird Diamond Syndicate in Chicago. The diamonds come in packages of 10-15. Over 95 per cent of the diamonds sold are of the Brilliant or American cut. Diamonds are sold in just about all colors, but most people prefer the white. Since no color or anything else will hurt a diamond, it will continue to keep its value.

Reichert's diamond experts said that some of the best times of the year for selling diamonds are Christmas and during May. Fathers, don't let this upset you, Valentine's Day would be just as fine a time as any to buy your girl her diamond. And keep in mind that if your engagement doesn't last, Reichert's will buy back the ring.

Barb Acker's eyes gleam as Jerry Dawson shows her a tray of dinner rings.

Valentine Apron Requires No Sewing!
A stapler and Valentine gift wrap paper are all that's needed for young women to make pretty Valentine's Day party aprons. From two packets of "Love Valentine" paper by Noracron, with its appropriate hearts and flowers motif, you can make two aprons. Adorn waistbands with real lace for a frothy finish.

For each apron, you'll need a 36" length of white cotton lace, a yard of red ribbon and some transparent tape. Tape 1/4" hem along one long side of paper. Tape 1/4" hems along short sides.

Tape lace to unhemmed long side, then pleat apron as in photograph at left.

For waistband, cut strip of wrap 7 1/2" long to fit. Tape 1/4" hems on each long side. Fold in half lengthwise. Insert apron in fold and staple securely. Staple 18" length of ribbons in each end of waistband.

This view through the gemoscope shows the many facets of the diamond.

Not within most college students' budgets but much to be admired is this $450 diamond dinner ring shown to a Lancer reporter.

YOUNG REPUBLICANS
COLLECT MONEY FOR CEREBRAL PALSY
by Alan Dickson

On Sunday, January 15th, the Canton College Young Republicans marched for United Cerebral Palsy. The Y.R.'s were asked by the Cerebral Palsy Committee to organize a group of Canton College students to march from door to door and ask for contributions for this worthy cause.

The Y.R.'s were rather dismayed at the fact that they did not receive support from other clubs or school organizations. Although it was final exam week, the marches were held only for one hour of their time.

Although hampered by lack of school support and 15 degree weather, the Y.R.'s marched and collected a total of $50. The United Cerebral Palsy of Illinois Committee were grateful for the Young Republicans' support. They remarked that more than 200,000 children are affected with the crippling condition known as cerebral palsy. Brains damaged at birth, many of them are so severely affected that they cannot walk or speak— or even feed themselves. And each year 15,000 more are born with cerebral palsy. But these children are being helped through research and treatment programs of United Cerebral Palsy.

The funds the Y.R.'s helped to raise are to be used for research into the cause, treatment, and prevention of cerebral palsy; public and professional education; and direct service programs in this area for victims of cerebral palsy. Twenty-five per cent of receipts are forwarded to the national organization of United Cerebral Palsy for research. Approximately 75% of receipts will be allocated for the state program of legislation, promotion, special education, coordination, and special programs. The balance of funds received will remain in this area to be made available for direct community services to victims of cerebral palsy who are in need of assistance. These funds will provide summer day camp programs, special scholarships, and other programs designed to help the handicapped.

W. Harrison Elker, the club advisor, led his Young Republicans through their assigned area and found that a large majority of the Canton residents were more than willing to contribute. After covering the specific area, the Y.R.'s proceeded to the Elk's Hotel to tally the contributions. The money was then turned over to the Canton College Cerebral Palsy Committee.

Those who devoted their time to the march were W. Harrison Elker, advisor; Steve Blust, Richard Dippes, Robert Gilliet, Ross Dickson, Rob Fulton, Alan Gilliet, Alan Dickson and Stephen J. Waterworth.

The student Senate is sponsoring the annual "Sweetheart Banquet" Tuesday, Feb. 14, at the Canton Country Club from 6:30 to 10:30. The semi-formal dance will feature Wild Child Gibion. Admission is $1.50.

Tickets are available from any student Senate member.

The student organization also sponsored a display at the activities fair during registration. Although the snow hampered the number of students who were able to see the fair, a number of CCC men and women signed up for the student Senate polling committee.

Anyone who was unable to sign up for the steering committee during registration and now wishes to do so is urged by the Senate to give their name, address, and telephone number to any Senate member.

A suggestion was brought up concerning the possibility of having a Dips and Dance at the YMCA. The Senate wishes to determine student interest in such a dance before any further action is taken.

Eat Well And Early — It's Easy

Want to put in a good weekday? Put away a good breakfast.

Nutritional studies by the U.S. Department of Agriculture show that workers who eat a good meal before leaving home get more done than those who skip breakfast or eat a low-nutritional one. The same is true for homemakers, weight-watchers and students.

Since there's as much as a 10-hour stretch between dinner and breakfast, the first meal of the day must provide a large share of energy food. Nutritionists say children and adults with average workloads should have one-fourth to one-third of the day's total food, including eggs, meat and milk, at breakfast.

They recommend that a good breakfast should provide vitamins, minerals and proteins to build and repair the body.

CCC BOYS SPARK WATER POLO SQUAD
BY CHUCK HINES
CANTON YMCA

Fifteen Canton Community College students are learning the rough and rugged sport of water polo as a part of the college's physical education program.

The students are practicing each Monday night at the Canton YMCA under the guidance of Charles Hulk, a "Y" aquatic director and a former All-American water polo player.

Equipment used for the practice was purchased partly by the college and partly by the YMCA.

In the group's first scrimmage recently, Fred Smiser, a freshman from Pekin, led the scoring with 5 goals. Gene Besalay tallied 3, Dave Neubert 2, Bruce Willons 2, Los Fulton 1, and Rod Ingersoll 1. Other college students in the polo program are Leon (Butch) Stowers, Bill Starch, Sinn Ulrich, Gayle Signes, Dennis Brooks, Jim Rippon, Steve Elasser, Harold Wisker and Dean Effnerfiltrer.

Canton College water polo club opened its 1957 season by playing a 4-4 overtime tie with the Canton YMCA team. The college jumped to a 1-0 lead on a score by Fred Smiser, only to have the "Y" poloists rally and take a 4-3 lead going into the fourth quarter. However, the Crusaders tied it up, forcing the game into overtime. Neither team could score in the three-minute overtime period, and so the final score was 4-4.

Smiser scored three times for the Crusaders, while Gene Besalay made the other score. Dave Neubert turned in an outstanding defensive game as the goalie. Other Crusader competitors were Los Fulton, Jim Rippon and Rod Ingersoll.

The water poloists have other contests scheduled with Drake University, the Western Illinois University freshman, the Sheridan Swimming Club of Quincy, and the Davenport, IA, Water Polo Club.

Water polo originated in Great Britain nearly 100 years ago and has been played in the U.S. since 1888. It gained Olympic status in 1908, 25 years before basketball became an Olympic sport.

There are about 600 water polo teams in this country, including 20 in Illinois. The sport combines swimming speed and stamina with ball-handling skill and teamwork; it is regarded as one of the most difficult of all sports.

Crusaders Defeat MacMurray 107-75

By Peter Joseph III

Opening with what could be called a ragged play, Canton and MacMurray College waged a free-for-all match at Ingersoll Gym in front of a sparse crowd of 250 people. The rough edges soon disappeared under the "crushing zone" of Jim Norman, and the Crusaders went on to maul MacMurray 107-75.

MacMurray allowed down the first quarter, or to be exact, Sammy Gowers and Bernie Cowan teamed up two veterans to man the visitors for four straight points, MacMurray allowed some fabulous outside shooting, but many of their "runners" were snatched by Al Ford, who was credited with 17 rebounds.

Starting the second half with a 44-31 lead, the Crusaders went to MacMurray where they left off, with Bernie and Sammy dominating the visitors by scoring the nuts for a combined 41 points. Al Ford found his hitting range good for 18. Bob "Hawk" Martin played an impressive rebounding game, plus a fine offensive game, dropping in 14. John Tamey, although not playing the entire game, picked off 12 rebounds and scored ten points.

The team as a whole worked as fine knitting, combining for some very good assists, rebonding, and shooting.

The fourth quarter saw the Crusaders upped after a late third quarter rally by Gowers, Cowan, Ford, Martin, Meyers, and Tamey which put the final thumbs to MacMurray. Everyone scored and was in figures. As of Tuesday's game results, Gowers and Ford are fourth and fifth respectively in Central Illinois College scoring.
