The Younger Society

Two Canton College students are members of a young combo which is in demand in the Chicago suburb area.

John Willy, freshman, and Skip Daniels, sophomore, perform regularly with "The Younger Society" combo which was first organized in Macomb at Christmas Time, 1966.

The group’s first big break came when Gary Thompson, the combo’s drummer, got them an engagement at the Irish Club, an exclusive night club open only to members at Aurora. "The Younger Society" has played five return engagements there. They have played, and received requests to play, in many other Chicago suburbs as well as in the city of Chicago.

"The Younger Society" refute statistics which show that teenagers’ grades sometimes fall below average when they become part of a popular musical group.

Joe Snowdon, organist, and Jerry Smith, bass player, are members of the National Honor Society at Macomb Senior High School where they maintain near a "4.0" average.

Gary Thompson, drummer, earns better than average grades, as do John Willy, who plays rhythm guitar, and Skip Daniels, lead singer.

Thompson has been playing drums since the age of 10. His parents recently gave him a $100 drum set. At high school he participated in football, baseball, track, band and choir. He feels there is "too limit to the success "The Younger Society" can gain if the group keeps working hard."

Snowdon is more than a combo organist. He has been playing the organ since he was eight years old and still practices the music of Bach, Mozart, Chopin and other classical musicians an hour before school time every day. Although Smith has been playing the bass guitar for only a year, a number of experienced players have said that Jerry knows as much as a man who has been playing for many years.

Fire Destroys Housing for 8 Men

Eight boys were left homeless for five days as fire broke out at 625 E. Elm. At approximately 1 p.m., Dec. 14, the Canton Fire Department was called to the home of June Woodcell.

The students were: John Survall, John Krupps, Mt. Sterling; John Grady, Jack- sonville; Josie Fenn, Galena; Ken Ward, East Peoria; Tony Foy, Downers Grove; John Brumley, Louisville; John Albers, Normal; DonNotExist, Peoria; and Joe Halfford, Abilene.

The boys spent the five days at the Canton Hotel. The fire broke out in one of the bedrooms, possibly on Albers’ bed, but a definite cause has not been determined. The room was charred and the floor buckled under the heat and water. Most of the clothes and other articles in the room were damaged.

Excessive smoke and water damage covered both floors. Three female living downstairs were able to live at the house since the fire.

Five boys returned Jan. 2 to live in the only room cleaned and repaired. Albers is living with the Assistant Canton Fire Chief until he goes into the service. Brumley is living in a trailer with Gary Myers, a basketball player. Ward is commuting from his home in East Peoria.

Set Date of Referendum for Class 1

March 2 will mark the date when area voters will decide whether the proposed FMS area will have a Class 1 Junior College.

The date was announced by Richard G. Ehrman, chairman of the Hinsdale Township High Schools, who referred to the referendum. The date was given Dec. 8, in Chicago.

Before the date was set, Speaker Hansberger conferred with Hinsdale, Canton College Presi- dent, and Robert Egle, past chairman of the original junior college committee.

In order for this referendum to be successfully passed, it must be approved by a majority of all urban and rural voters, ”Hansberger said.

Polls will be open from noon to 7 p.m. March 2. All legal voters in any of the townships included in the area will be eligible.

If the Class 1 college is approved, a special election will be held to establish an area junior college board.

The FMS area includes all the Pulaski County area except the Amsden School District plus Harrisburg school district in Mason County, and parts of Knox County.

Thetas to Seek New Home

Ceremoniously and with regret, members of Kappa Alpha Theta, a Canton College sorority, removed the Greek letters from the front porch of their house at 597 S. Main St., where they have made their home this semester.

Owners of the house intend to sell the property and it was thought that new owners did not intend to rent rooms to college students.

The Thetas who rent rooms in Canton haven’t given up finding another house to transform into their sorority “home” but have not made any arrangements to date.

The girls expect to have all their possessions moved from the South Main Street home by the end of the semester exam schedule, according to the newly-elected president, Becky Kennedy.

All overtime parkers need to keep a keen eye out for Howard’s new pride and joy.
RATES RISE

Students have an excuse not to write home so often now. It costs six cents a letter to send a letter.

New postal rates went into effect Sunday, Jan. 7. In addition to increasing a penny more to send letters, it now costs one cent more to mail postcards.

So if a student's budget requires it, he can write home for five cents on a postcard, but if he writes more than five words, at length explaining such delicate situations as overdraft bank accounts or failing grades, it will cost him six cents to put it all in a letter.

The LANCER will have to add about $100 to its budget because of these new postal rates. Copies of every newspaper will be sent by first-class mail to former CCC students now serving in the Armed Forces. The expense of this service in itself will be $100 per year.

In the past a four-cent stamp was usually sufficient. Under the new rates the charge is set at $1.25 for the first two ounces and two cents for each additional ounce. Another change mentioned by local post officials is that sealing unsealed communications, such as Christmas cards, is an unsanitary enclosure, is to be phased out in the near future.

For items sealed, the post office will charge three cents, sealed or unsealed, the cost is now six cents.

One bright spot in the new regulations will please plane passengers sending packages to American servicemen stationed throughout the world. The Post Office Dept. announced that beginning Jan. 7 it is simplifying packages to service men stationed abroad. A parcel post rate plus a flat $1 fee if the package weighs 50 pounds or less.

SUCCESSFUL REFERENDUM WOULD IMPROVE COLLEGE

The Canton College Board of Education and many other persons in this area are striking hard to help Canton Community College become a Class 1 Junior college.

If such a feat is accomplished, voters in Fulton, Monroe and Knox Counties included in this junior college district approved it May 23, more funds will be available for Canton College.

The question, and perhaps that is occurring to other students, is how might these funds be used to improve college?

Until the time when new buildings could be constructed might it pay the college students to improve or remodel the Dungeon?

In the short time I have attended CCC, I have heard read numerous alarms and statistical records of the need, again for the Dungeon.

Money used to improve the conditions in the Dungeon would seem worthwhile if not for an improvement for the sake of the appraiser, then for improvements which might quiet the abounding dissatisfaction of the students.

With more money available for improvement, a contract negotiated with a new vending machine company seems pertinent. Once again such an improvement would help the students to a degree.

The fact has been established that we people at Canton College have a fine chemistry teaching staff. Also established is the fact that even fine teachers need proper facilities in order to do a superior teaching job. Whosoever has such excellent teachers and improved laboratory facilities, what Elsewhere our school might profit.

Parking is another problem. The parking situation seems to be an unfortunate pain in the neck. Maybe the funds coming in could be used to solve this situation. Not being an authority on the subject, I will not attempt to provide a solution.

Jefferson Airplane Bombs

The Jefferson Airplane, in the opinion of most of the audience at the University of IllinoisAssembly Hall, crashed after takeoff Dec. 9.

What was expected to be an entertaining concert turned out to be about two hours of solid rock music and screaming voices, according to Dennis-Sukioka, activities editor of the Daily Illini.

The Jefferson Airplane group played their two big hits, "Somebody to Love" and "White Rabbit," as well as several other numbers, but even these were not completely appreciated, according to the critic.

The whole affair was spoiled by the crowd of screaming sideburns as lead singer Grace Slick hit the stage. The audience screamed out of control and the sideburns got louder as they screamed.

The audience screamed out of control and the sideburns got louder as they screamed.

If Grace had invited "anyone in the audience to come up here and take on one name," she said the place would be a howling success.

Despite selling $1 a piece for tickets, several hundred university and high school students turned out to hear the concert and return to their seats.

PUBLISH GUIDE FOR SCHOLARSHIP

Students seeking financial assistance to continue their education in a college or university in Illinois may find the following information useful.

Through the cooperation of the Illinois American Legion and many of the other veterans' associations and colleges and universities, the booklet will be distributed through the offices of Young Men's Christian Association of Illinois, 222 Exchange Building, Chicago.

This information is distributed through the Illinois Office of Public Instruction.

DID YOU GO?

Have you wondered why the attendance at the Christmas dance was only 50 out of a possible 500 full-time students at CCC? Well, we have the answer. Could the cost of the dance have been too high? We seriously doubt it.

If I were to hire a date for the show it would have cost me more than the two dollar ticket fee for the dance.

Many students did not wish to attend since the dance was held Tuesday evening and there was one class on that day.

The most obvious reason might be that the music played by the Depot Dynamite was not suitable for people dressed in semi-formal attire.

This same problem might again arise at one of the balls. Will girls in their long formal gowns want to dance to the rock n roll bands that can play only rock n roll music?

It seems ridiculous to hire big name bands at high cost when they attract half a large crowd and not just the rock fans. It seems to me that we should consider a more moderate crowd.

It is our opinion that a dance band should not be hired which will be suitable to the occasion.

SONGS PROVOKE NEW IDEAS

Without a doubt, the year 1967 brought the most significant change in popular music to come along since rock 'n' roll first intruded upon the world. The west coast sound, San Francisco and Los Angeles produced more than 1,200 groups last year. Such groups as the Doors, the Jefferson Airplane, the Grateful Dead, and the Byrds were among the new new groups. The hippie movement has had a great influence on many new groups.

The Jefferson Airplane brought the Peace message in music to the world. Their records, along with many other groups, call for an end to war. The Jefferson Airplane's "Sister Love You" has been a favorite of the group's slogan during the year.

The Doors, on the other hand, carry a more violent tone in their songs. On their first album, they offer a minute selection called "The End" which pictures the basic four of death and different versions concerning the person's commitment to death and how unacceptable it is.

For the most part, the West Coast sound has brought more of an actual message and means to popular music than was ever present before.

The rest of popular music is the rhythm and blues sound. Recording stars such as James Brown, Wilson Pickett, and Sam and Dave brought out the rhythm and blues sound.

The year 1967 was dominated by the rhythm and blues sound, and it is becoming increasingly popular with college audiences.

The most significant sound of the year is the beat that led to "Ode to Billy Joe." It combines pop, country, blues, and rhythm and blues, and even a touch of classical music into one song.

Money Class Takes Survey

Retailing Class Takes Survey

Class surveys service, quality and selection are the most important reasons for buying a particular product, it was found by a survey conducted in December by Ronald Davie's retailing class.

A survey was taken of 280 residents in the immediate Canton College shopping area to find out where and why people shop.

The major reason people shop for major appliances, such as stoves, or refrigerator, are services, brand preference, and price.

Of the approximately 260 persons interviewed in the Canton area about their shopping for major appliances, clothing, women's and children's clothing in general, selection of goods available was of paramount importance in choosing a store. However, quality of goods for sale and the friendliness of sales persons also played an important part.

Convenience of parking, hours the store is open and its proximity to the shoppers seemed of most importance where grocery shopping was concerned.

Areas residents shop more in the Canton area than anywhere else. This was the reply given by 212 of the 280 people interviewed.

CRUSADERS' CHEERLEADERS

‘KEEP THE FAITH, BABY’
by Sam Gowers

There have been many questions about why our Crusaders are losing basketball games.

This year’s team has had many problems to cope with, mainly finding a big man to play under the boards.

The team has played signals that do have a big man, and in many cases more than one. You cannot win games without rebounders because the team that controls the boards controls the game.

There have been a few rumors about jealousy and dissension, even comments that the players just don’t want to win. There is bound to jealousy and dissension among high school players where everyone wants to be outstanding, but the Crusaders want to win more than they want individual accolades.

Recently the team showed signs of working together and putting forth that extra effort needed to win ball games. Now they need backing from the student body more than they need criticism.

Anyone plays better when he knows the students want to win as much as the players do. If players feel the school they are playing for don’t care, this affects ballplayers in such a way that they don’t care either.

Sure the team has a few more losses than wins now, but there are many more games to play. Remember they are CRUSADERS, and they will be back.

CRUSADERS FIGHT HARD
by Phil Conlon

After 16 games, the Canton Crusaders find themselves with a 6-10 record, which isn’t bad considering the tough competition the Crusaders play against.

Canton has had some fine individual performances, with the biggest standout being 6’3” forward Al Ford. Ford is averaging just over 25 points a game and is one of the leading scorers in the area. He has also had two 30-point performances.

Other Canton players with averages in double figures are Harry Beasley with 14.1, Bernie Cowan with 12.1, and Hawkins at 14.1.

The longest legitimate film ever shown is the three-part movie, The Human Condition, directed by Masaki Kobayashi of Japan. First shown in 1961, it is 8 hours, 50 minutes long.

NEW MOTORCYCLE LAWS ARE "RUGGED"

By Dave Krupps

Complying with the new motor-cycle laws may be a hard task because of rugged standards now being set for motorcyclists in Illinois.

Each helmet must have on it a label stating that it is up to the standards that are set. It will have to be conform to standards of head coverage and impact absorption. These helmets must also have some sort of reflective material no less than four square inches on the outside of the helmet.

There is a possibility that some helmets that are up to standard will be on the market this month. However, it will eventually be sold that will make the individual to make the helmet suitable to standards.

Motorcyclists must comply with other new laws that went into effect Jan. 1:

Two people may ride a motorcycle only if it is designed to carry two, and neither may ride sideways.

Hand grips must be provided for the passenger; permanent seat straps are acceptable if they are manufacturers’ original equipment or replacement equipment.

Passengers must be provided with firmly mounted adjustable footrests.

The passenger must keep his feet on the footboards while the cycle is in motion.

Each cycle must be equipped with a rearview mirror that has a visibility of 200 feet.

Handlebars that raise 15 inches above the seat are forbidden. It will be illegal to change the exhaust system if it increases the noise.

Driver and passenger must wear or the approved headgear unless the cycle has a windshield; riders must wear goggles or face shield.

Any motorcycle with over 150 ccs of piston displacement must have two separate means of applying the brakes.

Special license plates are to be issued to any cycle of over 150 ccs.

The new laws will prohibit a motorcyclist from passing another vehicle unless there is an available lane. This means that a motorcyclist must comply with the same laws as an automobile.

Clifford D. Swanson, research analyst for the State Highway Division, stated that motorcycles of less than 150 ccs will not be permitted on any limited access highways. Swanson, who made a study of cycle accidents, said the biggest reason for cycle accidents is the failure to yield the right of way. He also stated that motorists do not seem to know how to respect a cyclist whereas they never fail to yield the right of way to a car or truck.

Since 1961 the registration of motorcycles has jumped 229 per cent but the death rate has climbed a mere 0.2 per cent.

Over 81,000 motorcycles were registered in Illinois last year.

STAMPS AREN'T JUST STICKY BUSINESS

By Al Watt

John Niehaus, a sophmore civil engineering major, has been collecting stamps since fourth grade. According to John, the hobby of collecting is hard work and it takes a lot of passion to succeed. For some, it can even lead to great achievements. John himself is a member of the University Stamp Club, which holds monthly meetings and organizes trips to local stamp dealers.

The hobby of stamp collecting can also lead to new horizons of learning, as John has found. His passion for stamps has led him to explore various cultures and historical events, which has enriched his academic and personal life.

John is interested in the history of postage stamps and how they have evolved over time. He believes that stamps are more than just paper, they are a reflection of the people and societies that have used them.

John's collection is not only impressive but also valuable. The stamps he collects are not only from countries like Japan and China but also from smaller countries like the Bahamas and the Philippines.

John's advice to those interested in stamp collecting is to start small and gradually build up your collection. He says it's important to be patient and persistent, as collecting stamps takes time and effort.

In conclusion, stamp collecting is not just a hobby, it's a way of learning and exploring the world. John's example shows that anyone can become a collector and enjoy the process of discovering new things.

OFFERS IDEAS TO KEEP FIT

Physical fitness is the ability to continue effort and perform well over a period of time. This ability requires good health, strength, stamina and skill. If you are physically fit, you will be able to do your school work and perform other duties without becoming overly tired, so that you have abundant energy left over for enjoying recreation and hobbies. You will also look better and perform better mentally.

Your mind will be more active and alert, and your body will be trimmer and more responsive. Your personality will be bettered by new inner accomplishments, confidence, and enthusiasm.

Physical fitness is the result of many factors - good medical care, proper nutrition, adequate rest, and relaxation, and sensible personal habits.

You probably spend a lot of time thinking what you will be when you are grown and have finished or graduated from college, engineer, doctor, businesswoman, farmer, housewife, designer - the possibilities are endless. But no matter what occupation you decide to choose, you will need the abilities of the person who possesses an attractive appearance, a pleasing personality, and good health, is skillful and enterprising, and has many friends and interests.

If you are active in sports or take part in daily school physical education program, you may be getting enough exercise already. But what are you going to do after your college years are completed?

If you don't get enough exercise at school or in sports, you should start a basic work out daily and now. It takes no special equipment and takes only a few minutes a day.

The basic workout is designed to condition all of the body's major muscle groups, strengthen the heart and lungs, and improve posture. Food good results, it should be done five times a week.

There are two levels of exercise - the Action Level and the Dynamic Level. They are the same activities, but the Dynamic Level calls for more repetitions of some exercises.

Unless you have been exercising regularly, you should start at the Action Level. When you reach a point where you can do
