LEAP YEAR KIDS ARE FIVE TODAY

Brian Pavlon thinks he will start grade school next year. This is logical because Brian has had only five birthdays. Needless to say, Brian is another one of the few who can celebrate his birthday on the 29th of February.

Brian recalls that four years ago, he was in the U.S. Navy. The day of his birthday, he was celebrating with a very nice Italian family in Naples.

He was given a small birthday cake. Then they served his birthday dinner which included pizza, lasagna, and because it was a special occasion, just a touch of vino.

Brian thought the birthday was a nice one, but this year he intends to take his financee to dinner, which he says will be more enjoyable.

When asked about celebrating his fifth birthday, Phil Lane said that he was glad because he could "start school any day now."

Phil went on to say that he celebrated his birthday on Feb. 28 because it meant that he received his presents a day earlier. Phil said that some people feel "sympathy" when they learn that his birthday falls on Feb. 29, but that he enjoys the idea.

The young woman engaged to Phil Lane has a problem since Phil is only five years old today, she will have to wait 26 years for Phil to come close to legal age for marriage.

Terry Chick, born Feb. 29, 1948, says he wouldn't like to have a job where he got his birthday off, as he would be on the short end of the stick for three years out of four.

Terry doesn't do anything special for his birthday. In fact, he says he hasn't really celebrated in a different way except when he was a little boy. He didn't remember that really he is still a little boy, in some twenty years of his life, he has only had five birthdays.

The only really big event Terry can remember that happened on his birthday was when he got his driver's license in 1964.

Terry usually celebrates his birthday on the first of March. This year though, when he can celebrate the 29th, he doesn't have any special plans.

Leap year is the year that occurs every four years except at the turn of some centuries. Julius Ceasar in reforming the calendar gave 29 days to February instead of 28 days every four years because each solar year had 365.25 days. This causes each person being born on Feb. 29 to have a birthday every four years instead of every year. By the turn of the 16th century an error of 10 days had accumulated. In 1588 Pope Gregory XIII added to Julius Caesar's reform that years divided by 100 should not be leap year unless they were exactly divided by 400.

Of unknown origin it is the custom that in leap year women may take the initiative and propose marriage to the man of their choice.

"DATING GAME MARCH 6"

Further decisions were made for the "Dating Game" at the Feb. 19 Student Senate meeting. The entertainment is to be held March 6 in Alice Ingersoll Gym.

VLJ, a WIRL disc jockey, will be master of ceremonies at the event to which the public is invited. A small admission fee will be charged. Winners of the Dating Game will be sent to the Surburban Club for dinner on March 8.

Steve Brogger, a sophomore, was appointed by Senate President Dan Kelly to replace Georgia Brickler, a sophomore representative. A show of hands indicated the appointment was unanimously approved. Miss Brickler was automatically dropped from the Senate for missing two consecutive meetings, the first being the meeting at which she was appointed and the second a specially called meeting reportedly held to approve a request for a dance date.

A motion was brought before the Senate by Kelly was to have the back door of the library opened. It was decided that Kelly would take steps to have it opened.

Also brought up at the meeting was the hiring of Billy Hill's Orchestra for the May Ball. A fee of $175 will be paid for the use of the orchestra between 7 and 9 o'clock May 25. The Senate wishes to have another band for the May Ball, also, but have yet to secure one.

A check for $50 was made out from Senate funds to cover the expenses of CCC Cheerleaders attending the Junior College basketball tournament at LaSalle.

LIST 148 GRAD CANDIDATES

CCC students expecting to graduate here in June are asked to check the list below. Degree candidates who do not find their names here are asked to contact Mrs. Virginia Vasen, registrar, immediately. (Candidates for degrees last January are not included). A $5 fee for cap and gown rental is due from all prospective graduates.

ANNOUNCE DISTRIBUTION OF FEES

First semester activity fund distribution has been announced by Jim Heeren, Student Senate advisor.

Each semester money taken in for activity fees is divided into six categories. This is done by a committee of three consisting of President Hearl Bishop, Treasurer Virginia Vasen, and Jim Heeren, advisor to the Student Senate.

A total of $16,665 was in the student activity fund at the beginning of first semester. This is the way it was divided:

Organization	Percentage	Amount
Student Senate	5%	$ 833.25
Lancer	8%	1,333.20
Shield	42%	6,999.30
Concert Series	15%	2,499.75
Drama Club	5%	833.25
Public Relations	25%	4,166.25
	100%	$16,665.00

These are not set percentages. They change with the need of the particular organizations.

Flanking Theta Kappa Epsilon's only silent member are Cannonball and Zeus. (See additional photos on Pg. 3)

SENATE RULES DUE FOR REVISION

No one thinks 6 and 5 add up to 10. No one believes 3 more added to the figure would leave the total unchanged.

But the Student Senate Constitution, written probably eight years ago, has several ambiguities like that.

A revision and re-examination of the "rules" the Senate is supposed to live by is long overdue. The statements in the Constitution are in many instances so far removed from actual practices that even a casual look at some of the paragraphs below will point up the need to get busy.

An organization needs some rules to live by and if democratic processes are to be preserved, then those rules should be observed or changed by proper procedures to meet existing circumstances.

Students who expect to run for office in April, their backers, and members of organizations might like to familiarize themselves with the present Constitution.

Because no printed copies of any by-laws or amendments were on file, LANCER staff members, who prepared this article, could base their comments only on the Constitution.

THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STUDENT SENATE,
CANTON COMMUNITY
COLLEGE, CANTON, ILLINOIS.

ARTICLE I
Name

"This organization shall be known as the Student Senate of Canton Community College."

ARTICLE II
Objectives

The objectives of the Student Senate shall be:

1. To provide an opportunity for student cooperation in a democratic government.
2. To foster the virtues of good citizenship.
3. To promote a closer relationship between student and faculty.
4. To provide for constructive expression of student opinion.
5. To assist in the promotion of school-community welfare.
6. To promote student social activities and academic activities.

ARTICLE III
Source of Power

"All powers are delegated to the Senate by the Dean of the College. Therefore, he shall possess the power of veto over any measure proposed by this organization."

COMMENT:

The college administration does not now have a "Dean of the College" There is a president, an administrative assistant to the president, and a Dean of Students. Who is the "dean" who has veto power?

ARTICLE IV
Section I

"The Student Senate shall consist of ten (10) members.

(a) Five (5) members from the Freshman class whose qualifications shall be that they be a full time student in Canton Community College.

(b) Six (6) members from the Sophomore class whose qualifications shall be that they are a full time graduate student having maintained a cumulative grade of 3.0 or "C".

(c) The Dean and two faculty advisors, all of whom will be qualified to vote on all issues brought before the Senate."

COMMENT:

This mistake is probably just one in addition. Obviously five, six and three do not make ten. Perhaps what was meant is that there should be five members from each class with the president elected from the Sophomore class.

The two faculty members and the Dean have been absent from many of the meetings. Could it be that they are not performing their duties, or is it simply that there are no faculty advisors? Perhaps even the Dean has not been informed that he is an official member of the Senate, and, as such, should be at the meetings.

If this is true, it might not hurt to try to get two faculty advisors and advise the Dean that he should be at all the meetings, if possible.

Section II

The Freshman representatives shall be elected on the fourth Thursday of September and shall assume the duties of their offices at the next scheduled Senate meeting which shall be held within one week following the election.

Section III

A senator's term of office shall be for two semesters after his election, and he or she must maintain a 3.0 cumulative average during his term of office or be suspended from the Senate until the next Senate election.

Section IV

The Student Senate shall meet at an appropriate time, scheduled by the Senate president when he has been assured of maximum attendance.

Section V

Special meetings may be called by the president, by either of the faculty members, or by the Dean of the College.

ARTICLE IV
Section 6

"The rules of 'Parliamentary Procedure' as prescribed in Robert's Rules of Order will govern the actions of the Senate except when conflicting with this Constitution.

COMMENT:

This is an admirable goal for the Senate, but possibly extremely difficult to attain. To help reach this goal, a parliamentarian might be a wise addition to the Senate.

This person could make sure the meetings were run according to the Robert's Rules of Order as is prescribed in the Constitution. This would not only aid in a smooth efficient meeting, but would also give the members practice in carrying on a proper meeting.

ARTICLE IV
Section 7

"Any Senator who violates college rules or is suspended from college shall be dropped from membership for the remainder of the year. His vacancy shall be filled by action of the executive committee with the Senate concurring."

COMMENT:

This section makes provisions for appointing new members in case one is dropped from the Senate. There are no provisions that could be found for appointing new members when they are not dropped for disciplanary reasons, such as transferring to a different school.

Recently new appointed Georgia Brickler was dropped from the Senate for violation of Senate rules, reportedly for poor attendance. Under a close examination of the Constitution, we find in Article IV, Section 9, that, "Any Senate member who is absent from three meetings for reasons deemed unsatisfactory by the Executive committee shall be dropped from membership until the next election.

Georgia was not required to go to the meeting in which she was appointed which is both logical and stated expressly in the Constitution. Article IV, Section 2 states that the new members, "Shall assume the duties of their offices at the next scheduled Senate meeting.

The second meeting that Georgia missed, counting the one in which she was appointed as the first, was a special meeting called by Dan Kelly, president, to give the Phi Kappa Sigma permission to hold a dance.

At the next meeting, the first scheduled meeting after her appointment, Kelly announced that Georgia had been dropped from the Senate.

Section 8

If any Senate member cannot be present, he will notify the president, a faculty member of the Senate or a student senator.

Section 9

Any Senate member who is absent from three meetings for reasons deemed unsatisfactory by the executive committee shall be dropped from membership until the next election.

Section 10

The Student Senate shall set down all other regulations not in violation with this constitution which it deems necessary in carrying out the necessary general procedures.

ARTICLE V
Officers: Powers and Duties
Section 1

The officers of the Student Senate shall be: President, Vice President, Secretary, and Treasurer.

Section 2

The pre-requisite for seeking any of the above named offices shall be a full time student with a cumulative 3.0 grade average.

Section 3

The officers shall be elected on the fourth Wednesday of April and assume the duties of the respective offices at the last Senate meeting of the school year.

Section 4

The powers and duties of the President are:

(a) to preside over the meetings of the Student Senate

(b) to appoint individuals to standing and temporary committees. Appointments need not be members of the Student Senate.

(c) to be responsible for the correspondence of the Student Senate.

(d) to succeed the office of President should the President, Vice President, and Treasurer be unable to perform their duties.

Section 8

Executive Committee: Will consist of the elected officers, the two faculty advisors and the Dean of the College.

ARTICLE VI
Nominations and Elections
Section 1

"The election procedure will be as follows: All persons seeking an office or seat in the Senate and meeting the necessary qualifications shall submit a petition thereby placing their name on the final ballot. It is hoped that a minimum of two candidates will file for election for each office on the Senate.

Section 2

"A committee of three (3) shall be chosen from the Dean's Honor List by the executive committee to supervise the nominations and election for the Student Senate."

COMMENT:

Since, in practice, the Senate has not operated with an executive committee, they cannot appoint any members from the Dean's Honor List. This is not only violating the Constitution but also is violating the rights of the students to a fair election.

Section 2
(Paragraph 2)

"No person shall campaign and petition for more than one position in the Senate at a given election.

(Paragraph 3)

"All students possessing a Canton Community College Activity Card will be entitled to vote according to rules established by the Senate."

COMMENT:

Activity cards have not always been checked during elections, allowing students to vote one or 10 times if they wish. A sheet listing 12 "Rules for Election" is attached to the Senate Constitution on file in the adviser's office. They make some additional specific recommendations for elections. They applied to conditions existing when the college was sharing facilities with the Senior High School. If these "Rules" have since been altered since CCC moved into its present location, there is nothing on file to indicate it.

Official secretary's notes, which should indicate any changes or additions to existing "rules", are reportedly still in the possession of last semester's secretary who has transferred to another school.

Section 2
(Paragraph 4)

"Those persons securing a petition and having the greatest number of votes shall be declared the winner for the respective seat as office sought.

(Paragraph 5)

"In elections where officers are to be selected, the two losing candidates with the highest number of votes (regardless of the office pursued) will be named Sophomore Representatives at Large."

ARTICLE VII
Amendments

"A proposed amendment shall be submitted in writing at a regular meeting and voted upon at the following Senate meeting. The amendment must be approved by a 2/3 majority vote of all Senate members."

COMMENT:

As stated above, the amendments and by-laws are reportedly in the hands of the former secretary, Mark Heuer. It is presently impossible to find out what any of the amendments or by-laws are. It is not known whether or not any of them were submitted in writing, or whether or not there are amendments to the Constitution. If they exist in printed form, they are not on file in the college office. Requests for copies by LANCER staff members failed to produce any copies of amendments.

ARTICLE VIII
Adoption

"The ratification of this constitution will require 2/3 vote of all the Senate members.

ARTICLE IX
Student Activity Funds

"The Senate shall have sole power and authority over the distribution of all student fees collected for the purpose of supporting and financing student activities.

"The Senate will hold one special meeting after the 1st of April, dedicating exclusively to considering all requests for funds. No student organization or activity will receive any portion of fees unless it has requested so formally and in a manner prescribed by the Senate.

"The Senate reserves the right to deny or reduce any request for funds."

Lancer Gets Viet Pay

"Don't spend it all in one place," admonished Alan Dickson, CCC alum, when he sent the Vietnam paper money to the LANCER.

A 1967 graduate and former LANCER reporter, Dickson is now sering with the Compan A, 2nd Battalion (Mech.) of the U.S. Army's 47th Infantry in Vietnam.

The money, pictured here, came in a letter dated Feb. 10. At the top of the letter, Alan wrote "280 days to go."

He said he'd been given a "fairly good job" in the mortar section as computer of the Fire Direction Center. He plots the target on a special plotting board and is trained to compute the elevation, deflection, charge and range for the 81 mmm mortar before directing the mortar crew to fire.

In one paragraph he wrote, "Our company had seen no VCs for several months until Jan. 29. We fought them bullets to bullets for several hours. I have seen my share of death. I saw war at its worst and pray I won't see it again. We killed 44 VCs most of whom weren't any older than 16."

An ardent Republican and leader in the local YR club, Dickson jokingly claims to have converted 85 men to Nixon backers.

Dickson, like other CCC alums serving in the Armed Forces, receives each copy of the LANCER, sent first class mail.

stitution is being completely ignored by the school administration and the Student Senate.

ALL ACTIVITY FUNDS ARE HANDLED AND DISTRIBUTED BY THE COLLEGE ADMINISTRATION.

The Senate gives its estimated total of expenses for the year to college administrators just as the rest of the school organizations do. They are allotted a certain percentage of the activity fund just like the rest of the organizations.

Is this a dictatorship on the part of the administration or is it due to the inability of the Senate to handle its own affairs? Judging from past Senate-sponsored events in which deficits resulted, the latter of the two possibilities is more likely.

Since the Senate is not, in fact, now responsible for allocation of funds, it would not be necessa.y for them to hold the special meeting as stated in the second paragraph of Article IX.

The last sentence gives the Senate great powers over expenditures of student groups. Although they carefully examined budgets submitted by organizations last spring, the final allotment of funds was not left in their hands. The Senate got to make decisions only on the minor portion of activity fees allocated for its use. That was all!

15 YR'S AT ILLINOIS MEET

Attending the state convention of Young Republicans Feb. 16-18 at Springfield were 15 members of the Canton College club.

Delegates elected as their new Illinois YR President, Bob O'Neill, a member of the Loyola University YR Club. He visited the Canton club during a recent campaign tour of the state.

U.S. Representative Tom Railsback was the main speaker at the convention banquet Feb. 17. The newly-elected president served as master of ceremonies at the festivities during which the Club of the Year award was presented to Northwestern University's YR Club. Augustana College YRs received the "newsletter of the year" award.

Visitors at the convention included John Altorfer, Peoria, candidate for governor of Illinois.

Canton's YR president, Ron Tomevi, headed the local delegation. With him were Rod Nickerson, vice presiden; Theresa Burtis, secretary; and Terry Briggs, treasurer.

Accompanying the CCC group, also, were Harrison Eller, club adviser, and Mr. and Mrs. Ferroll Till.

TO BECOME MISSIONARY

BY DAVE PROSSER

Miss Sharon Vaughn, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Vaughn of Ipava, Illinois, is withdrawing from school to begin her study as a missionary.

Miss Vaughn is leaving in August for Moberly, Mo., where she will enter Moberly Christian College. She plans to take special training for missionaries to prepare for a job in Oklahoma at Cookson Hill Church School for Disturbed Children.

She first started thinking about becoming a missionary at the age of 10. At that time she told Rev. Forrest Wise of the Bureau Christian Church that she would like to become a missionary.

Sharon does not fit the characteristics usually associated with the stereotyped idea of missionaries. The attractive, vivacious coed is very active at college and participates in various groups.

She recently was appointed to the Student Senate. A peppy cheerleader, she is also a top student academically. Outside of school she works 30 hours a week, is a member of the Fulton County Young Democrats, and was a candidate for Fulton County Queen. Sharon graduated from V.I.T. High School in 1967 where she ranked among the top 10.

Rev. Marshall Bivens, a field representative for Cookson Hill Church and school for disturbed children, had influenced Sharon very much in her decision to become a missionary.

SHARON VAUGHN

YD'S HAVE NEW PRESIDENT

Don Newton is the new president of CCC's Young Democrats. The club reorganized this month after several months of inactivity.

Other officers elected at the mid-February meeting include: Joe Halford, vice president; Mary Jane Saal, secretary; Ed Busen, treasurer; Scott Doubet, reporter.

Officers conducted the second meeting of the semester Feb. 19 at 4:30 p.m. in S-110. The club hopes to increase its membership and affiliate with the state YDs. The Canton club has approximately 15 members.

The club meets each Monday at 3:30 p.m. in S-110. In an upcoming meeting members plan to discuss attending a YD state convention in Chicago where a new state constitution will be drafted.

The first social event for the YDs at CCC is scheduled for March 13 when an all-school dance will be held.

NEW COMBO TO RECORD

The "Conspiracy" is a relatively new area combo in which a Canton College student plays lead guitar.

Frank Woods of Canton College, is the group's lead guitar player and singer. He is a native of Dahinda, Illinois, and a graduate of Williamsfield High School. He has been playing guitar five years.

Other group members include: Tim Bernovich, Farmington, drummer; Ron Negley, Farmington, rhythm guitar and singer; Randy Schoonover, Canton, bass; Mike Foshay, London Mills, organist; and Tony Foshay, singer.

Bernovich, 18, has been playing drums about seven years. Schoonover, 16, learned to play bass instruments at high school about three years ago.

Negley, 17, started playing guitar about three years ago.

Mike Foshay, 16, started playing the organ and other keyboard instruments about six years ago. He also plays trumpet and French horn in the Valley Senior High School Band.

Foshay, who has been recently added to the group, plays guitar and organ.

All members of the "Conspiracy" read music and most of them have mastered more than one instrument.

The group has recently invested $1300 in new instruments.

Most of the "Conspiracy's" material is original as they have two composers in the group, Frank Woods and Ron Negley.

The "Conspiracy" hopes to record "Miss September" and a few other originals in the near future.

This is one of a series of traveling art shows prepared by Canton College Art Department under the direction of Mrs. Betty Starasta. This display appears in the Canton State Bank lobby.

DISPLAY COLLEGE ART

The Art Department is sponsoring a traveling art show with exhibits being shown in at least nine different communities. This show is made up from the works of Mrs. Betty Starasta's four different art classes.

The purpose of the art show is to help promote the Class I Junior College proposal.

There are over 100 pieces of students' works in this show. Each art students was required to turn in his best two works from the past semester's assignments. These works include such mediums as water color, oil, pencil, charcoal, pastels, and tempera paint.

The exhibits are being displayed in the following communities: Lewistown, Astoria, Ipava, Table Grove, Vermont, Cuba, Fairview, Havana, and Canton.

HELP HEART FUND

The Phi Kappa Sigma fraternity of Canton College held a meeting at the home of Don Howard Wednesday, Feb. 21, to determine the route of the annual Heart Fund Drive. The Heart Fund Drive is held every February. The objective of the Heart Fund Drive is to raise money to promote research in the treatment of heart disease.

CRUSADERS DEFEAT DUPAGE

By Gary McCrary

Four Crusaders in double figures who, with their teammates, knew the annoyance value of a 3-2 press, meant victory for Canton College in the first game of the Section III tourney at LaSalle. They eliminated DuPage of Chicago, 100-92.

Shooting 50 per cent from the field, Bernie Cowan was high point man with 13 field goals and two free throws. Al Ford's 26 points and 11 rebounds was a definite factor in the victory.

Also shooting above their season average were Hugh Friday, who contributed 19 points, and Ron Hawkins who had 18. Harry Beasley added 9 points and grabbed 9 rebounds.

High point man for DuPage was Guard Perry Jonkheer with 31 points. His accuracy from outside and determined drives were a constant threat.

The Crusaders led at halftime 40-39 but trailed seven points at one time in the second half. Then their press worked and their shooting average climbed to 52 per cent.

Cheered by a handful of Canton fans and Crusader Cheerleaders the Canton team left the floor at the end of the game hopeful that they could survive the second round against Lincoln and win the right to meet nationally ranked Robert Morris in the finals. Winner of that battle goes to the Region IV tourney at Normal.

But Lincoln, victor over the Crusaders in two regular-season games, denied the Canton team its chance at the Section II championship.

On the short end of the 73-70 score, the Crusaders had miserable luck at the free throw line, missing 13 out of 19 attempts.

So Coach Jim Heeren's players wound up the year with 16 wins against 19 losses after playing one of the toughest schedules in Canton College's eight-year history.

TOURNAMENTS CLOSE OUT CAGE SEASON

By Terry Winters

The 1967-68 Junior College basketball schedule is drawing to a close. The final week for the best teams in the nation will be held in Hutchinson, Kan.

San Jacinto of Pasadena, Texas, was rated first in the National Junior College Athletic Association Basketball Coaches Poll in ratings published Feb. 15.

With the defeat of Illinois Valley (LaSalle, Ill.) by Robert Morris JC in the opening round of tourney play at LaSalle Feb. 19, the coaches' poll was proved less than perfect. They ranked Illinois Valley 15th in the nation and Robert Morris as 19th. They are the only two Illinois junior colleges in the national poll.

Canton Crusaders, however, would attest to the prowess of Vincennes, Inc., ranked second in the poll and victor over the Canton team on Feb. 16 by a score of 128-72. The Hoosiers have been averaging 105 points per game.

The mid-February poll listed the following top 20 junior colleges in this order: San Jacinto, Pasadena, Texas; Vincennes, Ind.; Tyler, Texas; Mercer, Trenton, N.J.; Ellsworth, Iowa Falls, Ia.; Northeastern, Sterling, Colo.; Boise, Idaho; Gardner-Webb, N.C.; Lamar, Colo.; Hutchinson, Kan.; Metropolitan, Minneapolis, Minn.; St. Gregory's, Okla.; Trinidad, Colo.; Paducah, Ky.; Illinois Valley, LaSalle; Murray, Okla.; Seminole, Fla.; St. Clair, Mich.; Robert Morris, Carthage, Ill.; Phoenix, Ariz.

Ranked fourth in the nation in team defense, Robert Morris held their foes to an average of 60 points per game in their first 25 ball games.

Canton Crusaders broke this barrier by 20 points when CCC beat them 80 to 77 on Feb. 13.

In individual scoring ratings in the nation's junior colleges, Ron Riordan of Becker JC in Worcester, Mass., is setting a strong pace by averaging 46.3 points per game.

The only Illinois JC player ranked in this category is Joe Watts, playing for Triton at North Lake. He is averaging 33.1 points per game, good enough for fifth place in the nation.

Top spot in team offense is held by Ulster JC, Kingston, N.Y., with an average of 115.9 points per game. No Illinois school made the top 10.

Northeast Alabama State, Rainsville, Ala., leads the nation in team defense, giving up an average of only 57.8 points per game.

MICH. DAILY LEVELS CHARGES

University of Michigan Newspaper, the Michigan Daily, accused the University of Michigan and Michigan State University of infractions of Big Ten rules in the Feb. 4 edition of that paper.

The paper charged that athletes at Michigan and Michigan State were receiving discounts on merchandise, free meals, free theatre passes, and were charging long distance phone calls to their coach.

Larry Werner, managing editor of the Michigan State News, answered the Daily's allegations by explaining that the free meals the Michigan Daily referred to were offered to all students. Anyone who cannot eat meals at regular times can get them.

The number the phone calls were allegedly charged to is inoperative. Duffy Daughtery, head football coach at MSU, admitted that players do charge phone calls to their coaches, but must reimburse the coaches.

The movie passes that were given throughout the season to football players were handed out at the first of the season and were available to other groups. Werner stated, "Anyone can get the same movie passes as do other papers and radio stations in the area.

A full investigation by the Big Ten Chief, John Dewey, has not indicated whether it will include MSU. Biggie Munn, MSU athletic director, and Fritz Kreisler, Michigan's athletic chief, said they would investigate the charges.

MSU coach, Duffy Daughterty, indicated on Feb. 13, that there is a possibility that a libel suit may be filed against the Michgan University newspaper.

"Anyone who suggests I'm dishonest had better be able to prove it." Daughterty said the allegations had already hurt his recruiting program and that "people who read the charges are going to think less of him."

TIME MARCHES ON

GALESBURG MARKED FOR STATE FINALS

By Bernie Cowan

With tournament time less than two weeks away, the Galesburg Silver Streaks are anticipating capturing the coveted first place trophy on March 23 at Champaign.

In 1966, the Silver Streaks took second place honors at Assembly Hall at Champaign. This year I am sure that "hard" basketball Coach John Theil is anticipating another good season along with a very good "showing" in the state finals.

Galesburg should "breeze" past the regional tournament without too much trouble. After the regionals, the Streaks will be traveling north anticipating a rematch in the sectional tournament with Moline. Earlier this season, the Moline Maroons held back a late fourth quarter surge by the Streaks to defeat them by a score of 67-65. This game not only handed the Streaks their second loss of the season, but it also "marked" the second time in Galesburg history that a regular season game was televised.

The first regular season game which the Streaks appeared on TV was in 1965 when Galesburg and Pekin were contending for ranking in the State of Illinois.

When Galesburg took second place in the state finals in 1966, four of the Streaks' 12 players were sophomores. Now they are all seniors and I am sure they are not going to settle for anything less than first place.

With Galesburg's fine record and John Thiel's good coaching, the Streaks should do real well at the state finals at Champaign March 22 and 23.

LOOK OUT FOR EFFINGHAM

by GARY MEYERS

Look out for Effingham in the state finals. If this gigantic team makes it to the finals they may win it without any trouble.

Last year the Flaming Hearts were turned back in the supersectional by a team which is well-known, the Collinsville Kahoks. Effingham was beaten badly, but the reason was that the Effingham team lacks important experience which this year they have.

They are the leading team in their tough South Central Conference and have beaten many good teams in the surrounding area.

The height of the Effingham team may play a big role in its effort in getting to the state finals. The starting line-up boasts a 6'8 center, two 6'7 forwards and guards are between 5'10 and 6'.

Effingham will have a tough way to go before they get to state. They have to play some of the better known basketball teams in the state.

Collinsville, Carbondale and Benton are some prime examples of teams which Effingham faces in its struggle for the right to go to state. This team, however, is rated No. 1 in the state, so with any work at all they should be representing the southern part of the state in the basketball finals.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL UNDERWAY

On Feb. 6, 54 boys met in Swartzbaugh Hall to elect teams for intramural basketball for this semester.

Instructor Charles Black named the six captains who chose members in order of team number. Several participants not present were appointed to teams.

All six teams have at least seven players in case some boys are not able to attend the game. If a team is scheduled to play and does not have at least five players, it must forfeit the game.

Black informed the players that officiating would be conducted by students in the basketball officiating classes. Games will be played at Central School Gym. The first games were played on Feb. 19 at 6:15, 7:15 and 7:45 p.m.

Team No. 2, 1-0; No. 3, 1-0; No. 5, 1-0; No. 1, 0-1; No. 4, 0-1; No. 6, 0-1.

Team 1: Roger Golden, captain; Mike Butler, Russ Dailey, Jerry Donley, Bill Edley, Merle Mayhugh, Valentine Jugovic, and Steve Christians.

IC'S FIRST PLAY WINS APPROVAL

By Lisa Beck

Illinois Central College presented its first play, "Dark of the Moon", which had scenes of earthy truth and moments of great impact. The presentation did not actually live up to previous expectations until the final scenes in the second act. It was presented Feb. 16-18 in the Consistory at Peoria.

A modern tragedy which takes place in the hills of the Smoky Mountains in the 1930's, the drama was written by Howard Richardson. It is the tragic story of a young warlock who longs to become mortal so that he may marry a hill girl who is soon to bear his child. The entire play revolves around the love of the two, and a haunting ballad sings of the love of a mountain girl named Barbara Allen for a warlock who yearns to be human. This runs through the viewer's mind as he watches the tragic song come to life on the stage.

Jim Clemmer, who first sang the ballad, and the leading lady, Mary Ann Fosco, both displayed remarkable vocal talents.

The leading man, Scott Fabry, portrayed the role of the unhappy witchboy, or John with the true flair of a professional and there were some moments when his supporting characters seemed to let him carry the entire scene which was more than a handicap. However, Fabry followed through in excellent style. His most memorable moment was when, hearing of the loss of his first-born child, he brings forth his anquished grief to the audience and gives it to them in such a manner that they are compelled grieve with him. However, even this scene, with all of its impact and emotion could have been challenged by the final moment of the play when he becomes a warlock again and in the process loses his beloved wife, Barbara Allen.

The common country maiden, Barbara Allen, was portrayed by Mary Ann Fosco. Although her character seemed to be weak in the play's first moments, it was strengthened by the second act when her most emotional and taxing roles came to the fore.

Miss Fosco was exceptionally brilliant in the final scene when she declared her love for John, the warlock, but knew that she must die. Her exceptional performance in this scene erased all doubts the audience might have had about her talents when the mountain girl declared "I'm afraid to die!" The entire tragedy of the play and of the ballad itself come forth in the impact of this one scene when the audience realizes the true nature of both man and beast and how brief are the promises to the dying in the light of the moon. Her young husband returns to the ways of his warlock ancestory and forgets the sufferings of Barbara Allen.

The preacher of the hill folk in the play was enacted by Bill Lawrence, a community member who was among eight other older members in the performance. Lawrence was obviously one of the best minor characters in the entire production and he certainly displayed his ultimate talents in the highly wrought revival scene. In this scene he is every inch the radical rural preacher who supposedly grace many a hill village.

A second member of the adult cast whose portrayal was excellent was William Nolden who portrayed the father of Barbara Allen. Nolden's character was in place both on the stage and six paces off as he predicted the fall of his beloved daughter into the depths of sin and "hell's damnation."

The performance of minor characters were never faulty and the major difficulty was that they were compared with performers of greater polish and talent.

The production of this play was done in the true style of the modern theatre with the absence of all small props, a majority of large props and scenery. In fact throughout the entire play the only scenery to be seen was the background of the mountain which was done in a unique manner which boardered on the grotesque. The mobility of the actors was astounding considering that the platforms from which they performed were moved throughout the play for effect.

The director of the production was Don Marine, head speech and theatre arts coach at ICC, who in past years directed the musical "Oklahoma" at the Fulton County Playhouse and who will return this spring to direct "The Rainmaker." Marine lived up to his reputation in the production of "Dark of the Moon" and considering the obvious handicap of the stage facilities at the Scottish Rite Cathedral where the play was held, the production could only be termed a beautiful and wonderful experience.

Unfortunately, the audience apparently did not expect what it saw, because the final response was less than that due to the cast and director of such a play. Perhaps the problem was in the fact that the audience was not ready nor willing to accept a modern tragedy of this caliber on a college stage. However, this cannot dampen the beauty of the production because of the mere fact that the audience's response was only one aspect of the play's success.

Thus, even with the few problems and rough spots, "Dark of the Moon" was brilliant and offers the college play-goer promise of an excellent theatrical season ahead at ICC.

WESTERN TO GET ROTC

"A real opportunity for all men" is the summation made by John Weston, director of International Understanding, upon notification by the Army that Western Illinois University will have a non-mandatory Army Reserve Officer Training Corps Program.

Weston also stated, "Western feels extremely fortunate to be among 15 schools in the country chosen to initiate this program out of 87 who qualified." One-hundred and eighteen schools applied for the ROTC Program.

The Army has awarded two senior ROTC programs to Western. Both are two-year programs in the field of general military studies.

The ROTC Vitalization Act of 1964 developed a new two-year program which is of interest to the junior college student. This is essentially for students who have not had an opportunity to take the basic course.

Under this program, the student enrolls and undertakes his first training the following summer when he reports for a six week summer camp. This training period is intense and imparts the equivalent of Military Science I and II. He then enrolls in the advanced course in the same capacity as the four-year men.

Many opportunities are available to the young men who enroll in ROTC. They receive a $50 monthly allowance which aids them with their college expenses.

HOLD BENEFIT PLAY FOR FAMILY

Production plans for the presentation of "Arsenic and Old Lace" scheduled for April 5 and 6 to be held at the Canton Senior High School Auditorium, have been completed according to Mrs. Robert Fordyce, producer.

Tickets will go on sale in many Canton stores for $1 each. Mrs. Rose Dingwall, publicity chairman, said the play will be given as a tribute to the late Delbert Patterson who was active in Canton's community affairs. All proceeds from the production of "Arsenic and Old Lace" will go to the Delbert Patterson family.

Mrs. Kathy Patterson is known to many CCC students. She attended Canton College last year and was a reporter on the LANCER staff. She has been employed for several years at the Canton YMCA.

Many members of the Fulton County Playhouse and members of the Canton High School will be working on and off stage during the two day performance. Members of the YWCA and YMCA will also take part in the play.

Mrs. Dingwall said the play was copy written in 1941 by Joseph Kesseliring. Arsenic and Old Lace is a three act play.
